I. Summary:

This bill requires institutions within the Florida College System and the State University System of Florida that offer priority course registration for a segment of the student population, or that establish such a policy, to provide priority course registration to veterans of the U.S. Armed Forces. Those eligible for priority registration under the bill include veterans using GI Bill educational benefits or the spouse or dependent children of a veteran to whom the GI Bill educational benefits have been transferred. The bill provides that qualified GI Bill users will be eligible for priority registration until the expiration of the GI Bill educational benefits.

The bill also encourages independent postsecondary institutions to provide priority course registration to veterans or their spouses or dependents who utilize GI Bill education benefits as public colleges and universities are required to provide under s. 1004.075, F.S.

The bill creates ss. 1004.075 and 1005.09, Florida Statutes.

II. Present Situation:

Priority Course Registration

Priority course registration allows designated groups of students at colleges and universities to register for courses for an upcoming semester before the entire student population is able to register. Some examples of groups of students who may typically be eligible for priority course registration at institutions that implement such a policy include: upper division students; student athletes; students with disabilities; honor college students; and student veterans.

Postsecondary institutions are currently not required to offer veterans of the U.S. Armed Forces priority when registering for courses based on their status as a veteran.¹ Rather, it is at the discretion of both public² and private³ institutions of higher education whether or not to offer priority course registration and to determine which groups of students would be eligible.⁴ If an institution does not offer priority registration for veterans, students who are veterans register for courses at the same time as the general student population.⁵ It is common for a veteran to have put higher education on hold when he or she makes the decision to serve in the U.S. Armed Forces.

Veterans in Florida

Florida's population of 1.6 million veterans is the third largest in the nation, after California and Texas.⁶ More specifically, Florida is home to approximately 127,000 veterans whose ages range from 18-34, which demonstrates a significant concentration of "college age" veterans who may be interested in pursuing higher education, either at the undergraduate or the graduate level. As the fourth largest state in the nation, Florida offers a broad range of opportunities for those pursuing higher education, in the public and private postsecondary sectors. Veterans interested in utilizing their GI Bill benefits⁷ can choose from a selection over 400 postsecondary institutions in deciding on an institution to attend.

Both nationwide and in Florida, there has recently been an influx of veterans on college campuses. Nationwide the number of veterans enrolling in college has increased to approximately 800,000 veterans using the GI Bill in 2010, which is up 40 percent from 2009.⁸ Likewise, there is a large student veteran presence in universities and colleges in Florida. For the 2010 academic year, 7,047 veterans were enrolled within the State University System of

² There are 11 public universities within the State University System of Florida and 28 institutions in the Florida College System.

Federal Education Benefits for Veterans¹³

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) administers a variety of education benefit programs, commonly known as the GI Bill, for veterans pursuing higher education.¹⁴ The most commonly utilized GI Bill benefits include the Montgomery GI Bill¹⁵ and the Post-9/11 GI Bill.¹⁶ The Post-9/11 GI Bill is the most recent adaptation of the GI Bill and offers substantially enhanced financial assistance compared to the Montgomery GI Bill.¹⁷

The Post-9/11 GI Bill offers an unprecedented level of benefits in providing financial support for education and housing to individuals with at least 90 days of aggregate service on or after September 11, 2001, or individuals discharged with a service-connected disability after 30 days. A service member must have received an honorable discharge to be eligible for the Post-9/11 GI Bill. The Post-9/11 GI Bill covers the cost of tuition and fees, not to exceed the most expensive in-state undergraduate tuition at a public institution of higher education.¹⁸ The Post-9/11 GI Bill provides veterans with 36 months of education benefits which expire 15 years from a veteran's last period of active duty of at least 90 consecutive days.¹⁹

For Post-9/11 GI Bill users attending a private school or a public school as a non-resident out-of-state student, the VA offers the Yellow Ribbon Program to help reimburse the difference. Under the Yellow Ribbon Program, institutions of higher learning voluntarily enter into an agreement with the VA to fund tuition and fee expenses that exceed the highest public in-state undergraduate tuition and fee rate in their state.²⁰

The Post-9/11 GI Bill also includes the Transfer of Post-9/11 GI-Bill Benefits to Dependents program which allows an individual to transfer Post-9/11 GI Bill benefits to the individual's spouse, one or more of the individual's children, or any combination of spouse and child. An eligible service member may transfer up to the total months of unused Post-9/11 GI Bill benefits, or the entire 36 months if the member has used none.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

This bill requires institutions within the Florida College System and the State University System of Florida that offer priority course registration for a segment of the student population (or upon the establishment of such policy) to provide priority course registration to veterans of the U.S. Armed Forces. Those eligible for priority registration under the bill include veterans using GI Bill educational benefits or the spouse or dependent children of a veteran to whom the GI Bill educational benefits have been transferred. The bill provides that qualified GI Bill users will be eligible for priority registration until the expiration of the GI Bill educational benefits.

The bill encourages independent postsecondary institutions that are under the jurisdiction of the Commission for Independent Education (Commission) or exempt from the jurisdiction of the Commission to provide the same benefit of priority course registration to veterans or their spouses or dependents who utilize GI Bill education benefits as public colleges and universities are required to provide under s. 1004.075, F.S.
